

THIS MORNING by JOHN TEMPLE GRAVELL

"No man, black or white, North or South, should ever be downed for a crime he has committed..."

The workers were huddled in Washington for their meeting for the second time since they gathered here in August..."

North of the Potomac there is justice for the Negro, equality of participation in one of the most important agencies of the South..."

All available men agree, too, it seems to us, that the South is in a better place in education and responsibility for a better place in the world..."

Another thing self-evident now, it seems to us, is that even though outside segregation and aid should be withdrawn, the Negro people of the South is a thing whose self-reliance and self-dependency must be brought about..."

Some of us in the South who consider ourselves liberals believe that before a liberal program involves different positions from those of a liberal program..."

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21.—(AP)—James M. Kennedy, 27, Monday night fled from his home in Cleveland, Ohio, after being charged with the murder of a woman..."

And finally, it seems to us, we should be for the most improvement possible in the lot of the Negro, without looking away to a dead level of deterioration..."
