Give A Man A Chance

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

Within the last few hours a very significant development has occurred in this country that has suddenly opened up a new chapter in our history. The case of Herschell Grynszpan has been widely publicized, both in the United States and abroad, and has attracted much attention from all quarters. The case has been widely discussed and debated, and has generated a great deal of controversy.

The immediate consequence of this development is that the German-Jewish community has been forced to confront the facts of its own history and the history of its people. The case has raised many important questions about the nature of justice and the role of the courts in our society.

The world is now facing a situation in which the legal system is being challenged and the authority of the courts is being questioned. The case of Herschell Grynszpan has highlighted the need for a new approach to the administration of justice, and has underscored the importance of the rule of law.

The case has also raised important questions about the role of the media in our society. The case has been widely reported, and has generated much public interest. The media has played a significant role in shaping public opinion and in influencing the course of events.
